TRECENTO PER CENTO TRASPARENTE

The aim of the project TRECENTO PER CENTO TRASPARENTE (THREE HUNDRED PERCENT TRASPARENT) is to awaken consumer about the misleading communication used in food packaging and to guide him towards a correct and conscious choice and purchase. The main objective is then to develop a really seductive and attractive packaging system, but without renouncing to the correctness for the consumer. Transparency is the c ore of the project and the added value for the product communication: the designed solution is careful to give back a truthful image of the physical characteristics and the properties of the product, but without loosing the seductive function of the package.
