Dr. Malcolm Stuart was one of the first highly qualified scientists in recent times to widely support and promote the many beneficial values of the plant kingdom. His worldwide contributions to the subjects of "herbs" have led to him being described as "the father of modern herbalism". Starting from his experience and knowledge, Dr. Stuart created a range of "extraordinarily good teas". The packaging solution designed to sell these high quality products is characterized by the use of fantastic and dreamlike illustrations which identify the beneficial effects of each tea.
